Dear Mr. McVarish:

Edward K. Nellor of the Government Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers has asked me to send you the enclosed glossy print of Allen Welsh Dulles, Director of Central Intelligence. I am also enclosing, at his request, some unclassified information on CIA, in which is a complete biography of Mr. Dulles.

Please let me know if we can be of any further service.

Very truly yours,

/S/ S. J. Grogan

Dear Mr. McElwee:

In behalf of Mr. Dulles, I would like to acknowledge and thank you for your letter of 2 September concerning former flying school instructors.

This is a matter which does not fall within the purview of the Central Intelligence Agency. However, your courtesy in writing to us is indeed appreciated.

Sincerely,

Dear Allen:

This is just a belated note to tell you how keenly disappointed we were to learn that you could not accept our invitation to be our guest of honor and speaker at the evening Seminar at the University of Wisconsin School of Banking.

We realize perfectly how heavy the pressures must be for you these days and August is certainly a difficult month.

However, we shall persevere in the hope that some day you can be with us.

With best personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

John

General C. P. Cabell, USAF
Deputy-Director C.I.A.

Dear General Cabell:

Although over five years have passed since I last talked to you at PSEA, just before the Secretary of Defense folded up that agency, I hope you still remember my interest and activities in scientific and technical intelligence which have occupied the major part of my waking hours these past twenty-five years.

Since my retirement in 1954 I have been working in the defense industry, principally in consultant roles, which have given me considerable time for philosophical thought and research in scientific intelligence matters. For several years I have been hot in pursuit of a basic system of analysis of Russian science. It is a logical extension of the successful methodology I developed in the late thirties for technical intelligence against Germany. A key part of the system has been eluding me, however, until just recently when, after a three day briefing at ATIC, a flash of synthesis hit me and I now have something very basic with big potentials that should be disclosed to an understanding person or group at the national intelligence level. Hence this letter to you. To my best knowledge it is a new concept. To what your interest, there is attached a list of benefits which should result from a proper exploitation of the system I have in mind.

I plan to attend the AFA Convention in Miami 3-5 September and shall return via Washington arriving about noon on 8 September for a two or three day stay. May I respectfully request the privilege of a short interview with you during that period? I should like to determine if my concept is unique. If it is, then it should be valuable and I am prepared to make any personal sacrifice to get it on the road. Assuming that it is new, I shall be prepared to suggest means whereby its feasibility can be proven. I consider this a very important matter!

[Handwritten scribbles]

If you are interested and my scheduled dates in Washington are not convenient for you, please let me know so that I can change my plans to fit yours.
